

Portland Eurythmy is the collaborative effort of six local eurythmists, a pianist and a speaker who have come together to create performances through the art of eurythmy, a gestural language that brings a living expression to sound and tone and fills the dynamic space between performers and audience.

Earth: This Being Human takes us on a poetic and musical journey that opens up worlds of tenderness, connection and wonder to what is outside and inside of us. Through our work with Earth, we have come closer to our own humanity and the connection that we have with everyone.

As you watch and listen, imagine that the sounds you hear flow through movements of the eurythmists and their veils billowing in the space around them. Notice how this dynamic art harmonizes what you see and hear with what lives inside of you.
