Anthroposophical Society in America

Form 990 - Organization's Mission or Most Significant Activities

The Anthroposophical Society in America is an association of people seeking to nurture the life of the soul and to explore what it means to be truly human, based on spiritual science arising out of the work of Rudolf Steiner. The Society serves the public through its own actions, the initiatives of its members, and the activities of the School for Spiritual Science.

Line 10b - The organization has written policies and procedures governing t

Form 990, Part VI, Line 4 - Significant Changes to Organizational Documents

The primary goals of the updating were to bring the bylaws' organization, language, and scope into line with current legal usage. The articles are reordered and much more clearly described. There are a number of new provisions, from "Location of Offices" and a descriptive section on "General Secretary(ies)" to "Financial Statements," but overall this revision takes a minimalist approach by leaving out details that do not need to be in the bylaws. Those are covered as necessary in "standing rules" of the council.

One change of terminology is notable: members of the Society's General Council are called "directors" throughout, and it is specified that General Secretaries are "directors."
